Lynchburg Receives National Award

The City of Lynchburg has received Digital Cities' second place award in its population category this year. Given by the Center for Digital Government, the national award recognizes cities that use technology to improve citizen services, enhance transparency, and encourage citizen engagement.

"This year's top digital cities are using technology to ensure citizens can meaningfully interact with city government more easily than in any other time in history," said Todd Sander, Executive Director of the Center for Digital Government. "From open data portals to enhanced connectivity and mobile platforms, this year's top-ranked cities are actively promoting transparency, encouraging citizen participation and making it easier for people to do business with government."

The City of Lynchburg skyrocketed from a sixth-place ranking in 2015 to second place this year. Lynchburg's successes center on an expanded concentration on technology throughout the whole of the local government. From a fully responsive host of websites to mobile-enabled departments, to an emergency notification system, Lynchburg has upped its digital game to be more responsive, both internally and externally. A Citywide policy enables employees to bring their own devices under certain situations and restrictions.

This is important because of the City's roughly 1,250 employees only 330 City-owned smartphones have been deployed. Rather than adopt a mobile-first strategy, officials have tailored the City's mobile undertakings to better capitalize on potential implementations. This approach also reduces the costs associated with mobile application development.

One important upcoming initiative features a collaborative, shared approach to connectivity between the City, Lynchburg City Schools and Lumos Networks to create a fiber-optic municipal network. Additionally, collaboration with the state allowed for Lynchburg's public safety answering point to interface with GIS data and laid the groundwork for a next-generation 911 system.

How the City Prioritizes Snow Removal

Priority 1 Clearing of all primary streets and heaviest traffic routes.

Priority 2 Clearing of all collector streets and bus routes.

Priority 3 Plowing of all residential streets if more than two inches of snow exists. Then... City crews work around the clock to handle slick spots and other street problems. Chemicals and abrasives are used only on main routes and bridges as needed.

Helpful Tips for Snow Season

- Be prepared. Equip your vehicle in advance; chains or snow tires are required when streets are covered. Plan offstreet parking and alternate routes. Play it safe—avoid unnecessary trips.
- Be patient. Please understand that the City will attempt to clear heavy snow from more than 850 lane miles of streets as soon as possible. Please call only when necessary and be assured that your individual problem will be handled as promptly as possible.
- Be informed. Save work by shoveling driveways AFTER the City plows have passed and toss snow into your yard. Snow removed from driveways and parking lots should not be thrown into the street or onto the sidewalk. According to City Code, it is the duty of the occupant of every house or lot to have all snow removed from sidewalks or footways within four (4) hours after snow has stopped. If snow ends during the night, sidewalks or footways must be cleared by 12:00 p.m. the following day.
- Be helpful. Pool neighborhood resources. Consider helping the elderly with grocery shopping, snow shoveling, and other chores.
- Be cautious. Don't travel unless necessary and exercise extreme caution when doing so.

Holiday Safety Tips

As we decorate our homes and businesses for the holidays, the Lynchburg Fire Marshal's Office would like to remind everyone of some very important safety tips.

- Make sure live trees have a fresh cut on the bottom of the trunk and are watered regularly to keep them from drying out.
- Check all lights you put on your house or trees for fraying or pinching wires or anything that doesn't look safe.
- Use lighting at the manufacturer's recommendations. Don't connect too many strands of lights to each other at one time. Make sure you use the appropriate type of lights for your project.
- Turn off all Christmas lights and blow out all candles before leaving home. Never leave them unattended.
- Extension cords are for temporary use only. Don't leave things plugged into inexpensive extension cords for extended amounts of time. If you are going to be home for the rest of the evening and want everyone to enjoy your decorations, use heavy duty extension cords.
- Don't overload outlets.
